

Report on Expert lecture on Women Health Awareness and cervical cancer Vaccination

16th Feb 2019

Women Development cell organised a seminar on “Expert lecture on Women Health Awareness and cervical cancer Vaccination” on 16th February 2019 to create awareness among students that women's health and vaccination is very important for females to protect against cancer. Cervical cancer (CC) is the fourth most commonly diagnosed cancer among women. The guest speaker Dr. Yogini Rolekar, gynaecologist, guided students and stressed that a key priority for girls is to take preventive measures. She explained in detail that there is no risk of getting an HPV infection from the vaccine as the vaccine does not contain live virus. HPV vaccination and regular cervical screening is the most effective way to prevent cervical cancer.

The session was very informative and interactive. Students discussed and shared their problems with the doctor. XX students of our college and female faculties participated and were benefited by the seminar.
